After the Football Game (A2 · English A2)

Tekst / Transcript

Emma: Hi Jack! What happened to your leg? You are walking very slowly today.

Jack: Hi Emma. I fell during the football game on Saturday. My ankle is still fat and blue.

Emma: Oh no. Did you go to the hospital? You look tired.

Jack: Yes, my mother took me. The doctor took a photo of my leg. She said nothing was broken.

Emma: That is good news. A broken bone takes many weeks to get better.

Jack: I know. My uncle broke his arm last winter and he could not drive for two months.

Emma: So you were lucky. Does it hurt a lot when you walk?

Jack: Only a little now. On Saturday night it was terrible and I could not sleep.

Emma: I remember when I fell off my bike. I was so scared that I started to cry in the street.

Jack: Everybody feels like that. It is normal.

Emma: My arm was fine, but I cut my finger on a stone. I still have a small white line here, look.

Jack: Yes, I can see it. It is very small now.

Emma: Time helps. Are you playing football next week?

Jack: No, I am not. The coach says I must rest. My leg still feels weak when I run.

Emma: Then rest. Football can wait for two or three weeks.

Jack: You sound like my mother! She says the same words every morning.

Emma: Mothers are usually right. And your shoulder looks strange too. Why are you holding your arm like that?

Jack: Because I fell on that side. I cannot carry my school bag on the left one now.

Emma: Give it to me. I can carry it to the classroom.

Jack: Thank you, that is very kind. It is heavy today because of the books.

Emma: No problem. My brother had a recent accident too, so I understand.

Jack: Really? What happened to him?

Emma: He jumped from a wall in the park two weeks ago. He is fine now, but he learned a lesson.

Jack: We all learn slowly. See you at lunch, and thanks again.

Woordenlijst

Word	Meaning
finger shoulder ankle bone hurt scared weak recent fair control ill knee scary blow deal dentist

Try our 6-step method for free and make these words stick.

Listen to this episode online: https://course.interactivelessons.nl/local/podcast/episode.php?id=27762

Start this course for free: https://course.interactivelessons.nl/mod/quiz/view.php?id=1902