Coffee After Many Years (A2 · English A2)

Tekst / Transcript

Anna: Hello, Tom! I did not know you came to this café.

Tom: Hi, Anna! I started coming here recently. It is very close to my new office.

Anna: That is nice. I come here every Friday morning. The coffee is good and it is cheap.

Tom: How much do you pay? I think I pay too much for a small cup.

Anna: It is two euros per cup, and they give you a small biscuit too.

Tom: That is a good price. Look, there is a free table near the window.

Anna: Let's sit there. But we should talk quietly, because that man is reading.

Tom: You are right. He looks rather tired, poor man.

Anna: So, how is your family? I have not seen your sister for years.

Tom: She is fine. She lives in Spain now with her husband and two children.

Anna: Spain! Perhaps I can visit her one summer. I love the sea there.

Tom: She would like that. She always asks about our old school friends.

Anna: Do you remember Mr Brown, our music teacher? He was particular about everything.

Tom: Of course. He wanted every note in the right place and no mistakes.

Anna: Sadly, he died two years ago. My mother told me last spring.

Tom: Oh, that is very sad news. He was a kind man.

Anna: He was. But he had a long and happy life with his family.

Tom: In the past I thought school was boring. Now I miss those days.

Anna: Me too. We had time for everything and no bills to pay.

Tom: True! Now I work all week and clean the house on Saturday.

Anna: Do you want another coffee? I have half an hour before my bus.

Tom: Yes, please. And this time I will pay for both of us.

Anna: Thank you, Tom. Next Friday you can come again and we will talk more.

Tom: I will. It is really good to see you after such a long time.
